

LUSITANA'S
FAST TIME

Crosses Sandy Hook Bar at 9.05 A. M.

ALMOST BREAKS RECORD

Time Is Five Days One Hour and Thirty-Minutes, or Twenty-Two Minutes Less Than Deutschland's Record.

New York, Sept. 12.—The Lusitania arrived in quarantine at 9:44 a. m. this morning. She was first spoken by wireless at Sandy Hook station at 7 o'clock, when she reported all well, and registered a new record. She crossed the Sandy Hook bar at 9:05.

The Lusitania's arrival from Queenstown this morning was greeted by thousands. Hundreds of vehicles, music and bands greeted the new liner as she came up the bay and reached her pier in the North river at about noon. On her deck over two thousand passengers awaited. A pier a dozen times the size of the Cunard company's could not hold the throng that gathered to greet her. The crowd was kept in order by a detail of 150 policemen.

The Lusitania's time was five days, one hour and 33 minutes, or 22 minutes under the Deutschland's record. The Lusitania averaged 22.87 knots hourly, the Deutschland 23.15 knots. The Lusitania's best day's run was 193 knots, the Deutschland's 201. It is generally acknowledged that the new boat was robbed of supremacy by the fog.

Another Record Broken.
New York, Sept. 13.—The French liner LaPreuve arrived here today, breaking the record from Harve of six days, two hours 23 minutes, by 53 minutes.

MALPRACTICE ALLEGED.

Portsmouth Woman Sues Dr. George E. Pender for $3,000.

Portsmouth, N. H., Sept. 13.—Suit was brought yesterday afternoon by Lena Raleigh of this city against Dr. George E. Pender for $3,000. The action is for alleged malpractice, the plaintiff claiming that she was not properly treated, and that the defendant's negligence caused her permanent ailment. Mrs. Raleigh was in a gas explosion in January, 1906, and Dr. Pender attended her for a broken shoulder. Some time ago Dr. Pender brought suit against Mrs. Raleigh to recover his fees, claiming that they amounted to $1,800. Mrs. Raleigh contests the claim. Both are returnable at the October term of court. The papers were served yesterday by Sheriff Collins and the defendant was arrested and given bail.

SECRETARY'S DAUGHTER NOT IN IT
Was Not a Member of Auto Party Held Up at Revere.

Worcester, Sept. 13.—Charles P. Taft, who left here this morning with a party in two automobiles, denies the story in the morning papers regarding the arrest of the chauffeur driving the car carrying the daughter of his brother, Secretary Taft, in the Levere Park yesterday. The Secretary's daughter is not in the party and Ida Taft, Mr. Taft's daughter, was with her father in the first auto. The auto held up for speeding belonged to Miss Anna Hanna of Cincinnati, who is accompanying the Taft party on a trip through the Berkshires. Mrs. Taft and son, Howard, who are also in the party, expect to reach Pittsfield tonight.

GOLD HID IN MOUNTAIN.

Graved Woman Carried the Family Savings There and Lost Them.

Mauch Chunk, Pa., Sept. 13.—Somewhere on Flagstaff mountain there is $941 in a coin bag. This amount of money disappeared from her house when Mrs. Madonne, suddenly bereft of her reason, left her home and family on Sunday evening and roamed the mountain until Monday night. The woman has had but few rational moments since. During one of these last evening she told her husband that she remembered taking the family savings and hiding it under a rock in a mountain crevasse, but just where she does not know.

NEW IDEA ON TAXATION.

Justice Wheeler Thinks the General
Property Tax Will Be Abandoned.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 13.—The American Social Science association held two sessions at the historical building in Delaware park yesterday. The department of social economy occupied the morning session and addresses were delivered by Dr. A. E. Weber and W. J. Ghent, both of New York. The evening session was devoted to the department of jurisprudence. The speakers were Charles B. Wheeler, justice of the Supreme court, and Frank Hendrick of New York.

Justice Wheeler's topic was "The Tendency of Recent Tax Legislation, with Particular Reference to Death Duties and a Progressive Inheritance Tax." He referred to President Roosevelt's advocacy of graduated inheritance taxes as having done much to call the people's attention to the possibilities and effects of such a scheme of taxation.

The increase of intangible personality in recent years has allowed much of it to escape taxation and the demands for revenue have increased. Legislatures have turned to new methods of taxation, and, Justice Wheeler, believed, the general property tax would be less and less exercised and that its place eventually would be taken by the excise method of taxation, a tax on succession of descendants' estates being one of the principal sources of such revenue.

Nearly all the laws imposing taxes in the nature of death duties have been enacted within fifteen years, said Justice Wheeler, and it is probable that the immediate future will see more or less general adoption of the system.

GOOD RACES AT SARACUSE.

Mae Heart Given First Money in 2:12
Trot—Lotta Besten By Margaret O.

Syracuse, Sept. 13.—Though it looked at noon yesterday as if the grand circuit race would have to be again postponed, because of a soaked track, Race Secretary Henry F. S. Neely decided to take a chance and hold them, in order not to disappoint the crowd that was of record proportion and included Gov. Hughes and his staff. Automobiles were pressed in to service in order to get the track in condition. With the aid of sunshine and a strong wind the course was in fair shape by 3:30, when the best program of the week was started with the remaining heat in the 2:12 trot, postponed from Tuesday, which was won by Mae Heart. This race was under rule limited to five heats and Mae Heart received first money while Will Bell took second.

He said: "We intend to take up eight branches of investigation this winter. In fact, we have already started some of them. DEMAND FOR MILCH COWS.

Prices at Brighton Little Better Than the Past Few Weeks.

Boston, Sept. 13.—The milk cow trade at the Brighton stockyards Wednesday improved upon the dull market that has prevailed for the last few weeks. Though there were fewer fancy prices than on last Wednesday, the demand for common cows was slow, good milkers, giving from 12 to 20 quarts of milk daily, sold readily at advanced prices. The receipts were 475, and few were held for the next market.

Seventy-five dollars was paid for two Holsteins and two Ayrshires, all well-shaped, blooded animals, giving at least 20 quarts of milk, but no sales above this figure were noted. One mixed Durham and Ayrshire, rated a 20-quart milker, brought $67.50, and a number of high grade Holsteins, Durhams and Ayrshires $65 each.

SAW STRANDED STEAMER.

Its Name and Condition of Its Passengers
Not Learned.

New Orleans, Sept. 13.—A steamer stranded on the Gulf of Mexico off the Florida coast was sighted on September 10 by the steamer El Dia, which arrived here yesterday from New York. The El Dia was too far away to make out her name or how many persons were on board. The funnels of the stranded steamer indicated that she was a Munson line boat. She grounded far out of the line of regular travel of the Munson passenger carrying steamers and in waters usually plied by freighters of this line.

DR. FLANDERS WINS.

Execution for $70,000 Against Him at Burlington Removed.

Burlington, Sept. 13.—By order of Judge George M. Powers of the superior court, the certificate of execution for $70,000 and costs issued against Dr. Flanders has been dissolved and Dr. Flanders was finally liberated by the commissioners yesterday.

This ends the most hotly contested malpractice case Vermont ever saw. The operation was for club feet. One foot was affected with tuberculosis, and part of the foot sloughed off. The doctor insisted that the disease, and not the operation, was the cause of the loss of the foot.

Dr. Flanders has practiced medicine for 20 years. He was the first to bring the X-ray to Vermont, and the only one to have hadium for use in treatment of disease.

A National Employment Agency.

Washington, Sept. 13.—Secretary Strauss of the department of commerce and labor announced today he intended establishing a National Employment agency and a bureau of information in charge. "It is that capital and labor may join hands to their mutual benefit," explained the secretary.

We had Jolly on "The Jolly Side of Life" under our County Teachers' institute. He is a lecturer-entertainer of rare excellence—rare in the sense that it is a departure from what we usually hear from the platform. It is more than entertainment, it is an inspiration from the source of truth. This, coupled with unsurpassed ability as a wit, humorist and impersonator, makes him one of the most unique figures on the platform. J. A. Alderson, county superintendent of public instruction, Pond Creek, Okla., Universalist church Monday night.

BADGE FOR COL. BROWN.

Feature of 13th Vermont Regimental Reunion at Saratoga.

Montpelier, Sept. 13.—Col. A. C. Brown was signally honored at Saratoga, as in told in the following report made by Col. H. W. Allen of Burlington:

"A meeting of the 13th Vermont Regimental association was held Wednesday evening at ten o'clock in front of the United States hotel, Saratoga, which hostelry was the Vermont headquarters. The meeting was attended not only by members of the 13th Vermont, but by a large number of other Vermont comrades and veterans from different states. The meeting was called to order by Col. Ziba H. McAllister of Wattsfield, who presided. Col. Allen of this city acted as secretary pro tem.

"Lafayette post, No. 140, of New York, of which Col. H. O. Clark is a member, was escorted to the band stand in front of the hotel by the Lyndonville band. These first speaker called upon by President McAllister was Mr. T. B. Bragaw, a member of the New York stock exchange and commander of Lafayette post, who is an honorary member of the 13th Vermont association. Comrade Bragaw paid deserved compliments, not only to the 13th, but to the Vermont troops generally.

"The event of the meeting was the presentation to Col. A. C. Brown of Montpelier by comrade Henry B. Meigs of Baltimore, a member of Company K of the 13th, of a gold badge of beautiful design, embellished with diamonds and other precious stones. Col. Brown is commander of the department of Vermont, G. A. R., and was lieutenant-colonel of the 13th. He resides in Montpelier and is a hale veteran, who achieved an enviable war record and who has since been a conspicuous figure in Vermont as a financier and man of affairs. The presentation speech of comrade Meigs was an eloquent tribute to Colonel Brown's worth as a soldier and as a man. The colors were taken completely by surprise, but made an earnest and appreciative response. Seated upon the platform were his daughter, Mrs. Ella Brown Bailey and his granddaughter, Mrs. Bliss, both of Montpelier.

"The idea of the presentation to Col. Brown originated with comrades Allen, Marsh and Clark, who constituted a self-appointed committee and carried the idea to a successful issue. The badge is the gift to Col. Brown of his comrades of the 13th in recognition of his hard work, loyalty and devotion to the order."

IS HAVING TROUBLE WITH HER HIGH SCHOOL

Secret Fraternities Threaten the Efficiency of the Schools, Says Montpelier Journal.

Montpelier, Sept. 13.—The Montpelier Journal prints the following: "This threatened trouble in the Montpelier high school, due to the absurd doings of the Greek letter fraternities, is something that must receive the immediate attention of parents and instructors. Here are a lot of boys, not out of their teens, introducing into secondary school circles the most aggravating features of the most ennobling colleges. Here we find children, still under the direct eye of parent and instructor, dabbling in the unholy mysteries of initiations, frats, shacks, spreads, etc., to the detriment of their studies and the positive harm of the school morale.

"The nonsense originated with college boys who came home full of the glories of 'fraternity,' and who engrafted the idea, or a slight imitation of it, upon local high school circles. Jealousy, bitterness, class feeling, snobbery and many worse things have followed in the wake of the silly conception and today the 'kid' fraternity notion threatens to break up school athletics and seriously endanger the welfare of the institution."

"It is useless to argue with youths who have once gotten this idiotic notion into their heads. Ask them why they have excluded this or that 'good fellow' from their society and they simply smile that superior smile—so out of place in boys' tender years and say, 'Oh, he isn't the kind of a fellow we want.' The consequence is that the whole preposterous affair has gotten beyond the control of the school authorities."

CAPTURED DEER ALIVE.

Heroic Struggle of Deputy Sheriff Emery
With a Deer.

St. Albans, Sept. 13.—A two-year-old buck deer was captured alive and unharmed Wednesday morning by Deputy Sheriff C. A. Emery of this city. Mr. Emery was driving along home through the main road from Georgia to this city early that morning, when the deer suddenly bounded across the road in front of the team. Mr. Emery was driving, and in attempting to jump the wire fence became entangled in the meshes. Mr. Emery saw the animal's predicament and made a dash for him, getting there just as the deer got free of the wire fence. Emery caught the animal by the horns and for a few minutes the animal succumbed and Emery triumphantly took him to C. I. Nye's farm, where he was safely kept in a corral.

The deer was rather thin and had the appearance of having been chased by dogs. Game Commissioner Thomas has been notified of the case and the deer is being cared for until he is heard from.

SHEEP DRIVING CONTEST.

It Will Be a Feature of The Coming
State Fair.

White River Junction, Sept. 13.—An interesting and novel feature of the state fair, to be given here Tuesday, Oct. 1, 2 and 3, will be a sheep driving contest. Maxwell Everts, the chairman of the state fair commission, is enthusiastic over it, but all persons are not familiar with what it is. Four sheep are let loose in the oval made by the trotting track. A dog is then liberated and is told to drive the sheep out of the oval at a specified place and upon the track. This done the dog is signaled to drive the sheep around the track to a point where they are penned. In no way except by the voice or by signals given by the herder are the dogs assisted.

Among the entries already made is one from the farms of J. Pierpont Morgan. The sheep and dog sent from his farm will be accompanied by a Scotch shepherd, as well as another entry made by a Massachusetts stock farm.

Mr. Everts expects that about 10 entries will be made and he feels that this feature will afford much instruction to the farmers of this northern section.

LOST LIFE
IN LAMOILLE

Selectman Harry S. Smith of Morrisville Drowned

OVERTURNED BOAT FOUND

And Hat Floating on the Water Indicate the Fate of the Man—Search
Was Made for the Body, but in Vain.

Morrisville, Sept. 13.—Harry S. Smith, aged 65 years, this town's third selectman, is missing and it is believed that he was drowned last evening in the Lamoille river. It has been his custom to drive his cows across the river, night and morning, following in a row boat. He did not return last evening, and a search revealed the boat floating bottom up and his hat on the water near by.

A party of over 50 men worked until nine o'clock dragging the river in a vain search for the body, but they were then obliged to give it up until daylight today.

The river where the accident occurred is not of great width, but there is a swift current and just below the water is of considerable depth.

Mr. Smith's farm is about half a mile below Cady's Falls, and there he lived with his wife and one son, two other sons having positions away from home.

Mr. Smith was a well-known citizen and prominent in town affairs, having held many offices.

"Unwritten Law" Man Defeated.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 13.—Returns of the Democratic primary election in the 14th Virginia district indicate the defeat of State Senator Lewis H. Machen of Alexandria and the election of R. Howell Thurston of Fairfax county. Senator Machen attracted some attention recently by introducing a bill in the Virginia legislature legalizing the "unwritten law."

Atkinson, Neb., Dec. 2, 1905.

After listening to Franklin Pierce Jolly's lecture last evening on "Jolly Side of Life," it gives me pleasure to say that I think he has the best all round lecture that it has been my privilege to listen to, and I would place it in a notch above anything we have and in our town since I have been connected with the lecture course committee.

I have been chairman of the lecture course committee for the last twelve years, and we have had some of the best men on the platform, as we take pride in obtaining the very best. I am more than pleased to recommend Mr. Jolly to any town or city desiring a first class lecturer.—B. E. Sturdevant, chairman of lecture course committee, At the Universalist church Monday night.

PROMISE OF GOOD
FOOT BALL TEAM

Goddard Has Good Material From Which to Select Eleven—Preliminary Practice.

Among the many new students who entered Goddard seminary this fall there seems to be an abundance of good foot ball material both in weight and experience. There were 25 candidates out on the campus in uniform yesterday afternoon for practice. There are seven of last year's team back this year and with the twenty new men to pick from Goddard's prospects for a winning team this fall are most favorable. The team will be the heaviest that has represented the school for several years. Vincent Bates, the old U. V. M. player, who coached the team last year has been engaged again this fall and began yesterday putting the players through the preliminary practice of falling on the ball and tackling.

Manager Karl P. Abbott is arranging for a good schedule of games and announces that the first game of the season will be with Goddard's old rival Montpelier seminary, played at Montpelier on Sept. 20.

Among last year's players who are out for the team are Berry, McDonald and Harrison who were the backs last year, Olsen and Alexander, last season's ends and Walsh who played on the line. Of the new ones who have had some experience in the game are Stetson who played on the team last year, Clark and Newton who were with the Vergennes high school eleven last season.

The river where the accident occurred is not of great width, but there is a swift current and just below the water is of considerable depth.

Mr. Smith's farm is about half a mile below Cady's Falls, and there he lived with his wife and one son, two other sons having positions away from home.

EXCITING TIMES IN MONTELLIER.

Pair of Horses Run Away and That
Quiet Village is Waked From its Dreams

Montpelier, Sept. 13.—A pair of bay horses owned by Edmund Shontell who lives near the Junction indulged in a runaway about the business blocks on South Main street this morning in a manner that promised disaster, but nothing serious resulted, however. The team was standing behind the Peck block when an automobile belonging to Fred Sibley came around the corner of the block. The driver of the machine tooted the horn and this was a signal for the start of the big pair of horses. They ran around the Lane company's repair shop and took off a part of the veranda in the rear of the Lawrence pool room out onto Main street and then turned onto Haymarket square. They came to a final stop when the wagon became caught onto a hydrant in Pitkin court.

pleted.

Harvey, one of the counsel for the plaintiff in the case now on trial, court adjourned this noon to two o'clock Monday afternoon, to allow Mr. Harvey to attend the funeral.
